

Chapter 8

DIVINE REVELATIONS

Over the course of my ministry, many people have asked me the same question: How does God speak to you?

That's quite a personal question.

It's like the Bible says, "And he said, Go forth, and stand upon the mount before the LORD And, behold, the LORD passed by, and a great and strong wind rent the mountains, and brake in pieces the rocks before the LORD; but the LORD was not in the wind: and after the wind an earthquake; but the LORD was not in the earthquake: And after the earthquake a fire; but the LORD was not in the fire: and after the fire a still small voice" (I Kings 19:11-12).

Most times God speaks to me in a still, small voice, deep inside my spirit. Deep calls unto deep. That voice speaks, and because I know Him, I recognize His voice, and I listen.

Other times, as I open up His Word, God speaks to me through a revelation of Him; no matter how many times I read His Word, every time I read it, God reveals something new that I hadn't considered before. His Word is truly alive, and it's one of the most overlooked modes of communication with God in the Church today.

Starting from my experience on the street corner after I left the orphanage, God began dealing with me in a very personal, supernatural way. God will never use anyone without first giving them an experience.

During important times of decisions in my life, such as the experience in Lima, Ohio, when God showed me that the ministry was not the work of a man but of the Holy Spirit, or when He took me into heaven to reveal His ministry for me, He has spoken to me in literal experiences – not intuition, not in my mind, but actual experiences just as God came to our forefathers, Moses and Abraham. That's why there is such a dramatic anointing of God's Presence on my life.

SON, BUILD ME AN ARMY

Many times, God reveals His will to me through the reading of the Word – Christians can NEVER spend enough time reading God’s Word!

Most times, God lets me see something before it happens, like the way God showed me long before it happened that Israel would recapture Jerusalem.

And more often than not, God speaks to me while I’m in prayer to Him. We live in a microwave society, where people want to stick a raw roast in the microwave and pull it out five minutes later to enjoy their meal, but God does not operate on our time schedule – the only way we’re going to hear His voice directing us and leading us is by spending time with Him, and lots of it. God taught me that power does not travel in words, but in relationship.

A weak and spiritually debased Church has de-emphasized the closet of prayer and a good, old carpet imprint on the forehead from hours spent on our faces before God. But you will not hear from God if you don’t spend time with Him.

God has called me to be a prophetic watchman, to give early information to His Church so that they may prepare for the things to come.

God does not give prophecy to scare people. He gives prophecy to PREPARE people for what is coming.

*“Son of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel: therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me.”
(Ezekiel 3:17)*

The true test of a prophet is that what he says comes to pass.

“When a prophet speaketh in the name of the Lord, if the thing follow not, nor come to pass, that is the thing which the Lord hath not spoken, but the

Divine Revelations

prophet hath spoken it presumptuously: thou shalt not be afraid of him.” (Deuteronomy 18:22)

In 1955, I was in prayer and Bible study with God, and God spoke to me and said, “Son, write down what I am about to tell you.”

Right then, I went to my rickety old typewriter and began taking notes as God revealed what was going to happen:

1. The greatest economical shakeup and transitional period the country had ever known would be coming. (This prophecy was fulfilled in the 1970s and early 1980s with gigantic inflation and huge unemployment and financial dearth throughout the nation.)

2. Immorality, vice, corruption will not decrease, but will increase until the age of Noah represents itself. (This prophecy has been ever-increasingly fulfilled since the mid to late 1960s, and it builds nearly every day, with every kind of immorality and base behavior being accepted as the norm.)

3. The Church of Jesus Christ will go through the greatest sifting process it has ever felt to bring forth all true believers. (This began to be accomplished with the tremendous trials through which many famous ministries were dragged, testing the faith of the people who had put their faith in ministers instead of God.)

4. Pentecostal people will be clearly noted from all other people in the world: 1. Those who want the move of God and 2. So-called sideline compromisers. (This has been fulfilled time and time again, from the time of the Charismatic renewal that started just a few months after I wrote this prophecy down to the modern-day revivals in places like Pensacola, Florida, where Pentecostal people are standing – sometimes seemingly alone – for the truth of the Bible and the righteousness of God.)

5. Israel’s armies shall march against Old Jerusalem and recapture it, after hundreds of years of captivity. (This prophecy was fulfilled in 1967 during the six-day war.)

SON, BUILD ME AN ARMY

These tremendous prophecies were revealed to me in 1955, before any of them could reasonably have been expected to come to pass.

In the late 1960s, I was in the West Indies, and I had a tremendous experience with God. I was on an island called Grenada, where more than thirty -thousand people had gathered night after night to come to the meetings. Almost the entire island's population was coming out to our meetings.

In the midst of this incredible outpouring, I began to agonize in prayer in my hotel room. As I was praying, lying on the floor, holding a Bible, I began to cry out to God, "I don't understand why You use me. I am nothing."

The Spirit of God came into the room and God began to gently talk to me.

"Morris," He asked, "why are you so discouraged?"

"I don't know," I said. "Look at the men You dealt with in the Bible. I don't have what they had. If I could only just be like them."

God said to me: "Who do you want to be like?"

"Well, look at Moses, I replied. "He was so meek and humble. I'm not very meek and humble. Why couldn't I be like Moses?" Have you ever said this to God: "God, I'm not humble enough?"

God answered with a question: "Have you ever disobeyed me? Have you ever done something opposite of the way I told you do to it?"

"No," I answered.

"Moses did," God replied. "I couldn't let Moses go into the Promised Land, because he did do something opposite of the way I told him to do it."

He paused and then said, "Next."

Then I said, "OK, let's put Moses aside – I don't want to take anything away from Moses; he was indeed God's called, chosen servant. Let me be like Abraham," I said. "He's called the father of faith. I don't have enough faith. Look at me. My faith isn't strong enough." Have you ever said to God, "I just don't have enough faith?"

Divine Revelations

God said to me: "Son, do you love your wife?"

"My wife?" I asked, "What does she have to do with faith in God? Of course I love her, God."

God said: "Son, what would you do if in the middle of the night three strong men knocked on your door, told you they understood your wife was beautiful, and wanted to come into your house and sleep with her?"

I thought about it for a second. I knew that I could only answer God with the absolute truth: "God, you know everything. You know what I would do. I'd pick up the nearest chair – I would kill them. Christian or no Christian, they would not get my wife unless it was over my dead body."

God said, "Morris, I know you would. But not Abraham. Twice he took his wife and pawned her off as his sister, and I had to come and intervene, or I would have had to destroy their entire nations. Next – now who would you like to be like?"

I thought for a moment, and then I said: "God, be patient with me. Just one more, Lord. Please be patient. Let me be like David. "

God said: "David? Why do you want to be like David?"

"Look at the Psalms," I said. "Look how David longed for You as the hart panteth after the water brook, so David longed for You. I don't long after You enough." Have you ever said to God, "I don't long after You enough?"

God said: "Did you ever murder anyone? Did you ever take another man's wife?"

"No, never!" I replied immediately.

God said: "David did."

Then, on that floor, I broke down, wept and sobbed as if my heart would break.

SON, BUILD ME AN ARMY

“God, I understand what You’re trying to tell me. It’s not who these men were or what they possessed, it’s what You could make of them.”

God said: “Son, get ready, I’m going to send a new anointing, and it’s going to flow through you upon the world.”

At the time, the entire world, especially America, was in an uproar, embroiled in the most embarrassing war we had ever fought, in the tiny country of Vietnam, students were literally tearing our institutions of higher learning apart, riots, racial tension and fighting were racking the nation.

America appeared to be anything but receptive to an outpouring of God’s Spirit. Still, God had never steered me wrong, so I began looking for this outpouring for several years.

I began to wonder what this new anointing would be.

I had been to India, but I did not want to go back. Every story I heard about meetings in India ended up the same – the ministers were fortunate if they escaped with their lives. I saw oppression and resistance in India as I had never seen anywhere before. I even told God, “Don’t ever send me to India, Lord!”

Nevertheless, God called me in the early 1970s to go to India and hold a crusade. I was not too keen on going, but I have never shied away from a directive God has given me.

I was very apprehensive, and I knew it would be the spiritual fight of my life to go to India. I had fought a tremendous spiritual battle in Haiti, but it was nothing like the battle that waited in this country of three-hundred and thirty million false gods and hundreds of millions of people who were so lost that they would starve to death in the most ghastly of conditions as perfectly edible cows grazed all around them.

I was cognizant of the fact that I could very well lose my life in India, but that was not what made me apprehensive. I knew a tremendous battle awaited – a battle for the souls of many lost and dying people.

My son, David, had just graduated high school, and he had been to several overseas crusades with me so he accompanied Lowell Warner, our technician, to India to set up the crusade before I went.

When I arrived in India, David met me in the airport, and I will never forget the look I saw on his face. He was white as a sheet. He looked more like a ghost than the robust, six-foot boy who had accompanied Lowell to India.

When I got off the plane, I immediately asked him, “David, what’s wrong?”

David looked at me as solemnly as he could, and I knew he had been working very hard to get the crusade set up correctly.

“Dad, I don’t know what’s wrong,” David said to me. “There’s something in the air, something in the atmosphere of this nation...there’s something here that makes me sick. I don’t understand it.”

I knew what David was feeling. The spiritual oppression was so thick, you could almost feel it in the air all around you. It was as if the devil was so entrenched, so in power, that he was standing, thumbing his nose at God and saying, “Preacher, go home, you have no power here.”

I instructed the driver to take me immediately to my hotel room.

As we traveled through the streets on the way to the hotel, I couldn’t help but be struck by the awful conditions people in this country had to face. People were filthy, sitting on the streets, missing body parts, begging for change. Some people were too far gone to even look up, but they still had the instinct to hold out their hand for a handout.

Rats were everywhere – rats as big as some dogs in America. The streets were old and worn, with huge potholes everywhere – and drivers swerving to avoid them.

SON, BUILD ME AN ARMY

If traffic laws existed, I certainly wasn't aware of them. It appeared that the rule of the road was that the biggest car won – and you had to hope you were in the biggest car.

Fumes were everywhere...fumes from diesel engines, fumes from gasoline engines...

Everywhere, people had the same, faraway look in their eyes. Everyone looked oppressed and without hope.

As I got to my hotel room, I began immediately praying, I didn't even have time to unpack. I began to pray earnestly in the Spirit.

Now, it is my custom to pray for several hours before any meeting in which I am scheduled to preach, but this prayer was different. I began to travail and call out certain things by name. I began to go beyond the actions, and to the root causes.

Where formerly I would pray that God would stop disruptions in the meetings, I now was praying about the spiritual root of the disruptions, that God would silence the evil spirits who were prone to causing disruptions.

Where I once had prayed for diseases and bondages to be healed and loosed, I now began to go beyond the diseases and bondages to their root causes and began to do battle in prayer against their root causes.

I began in the Name of Jesus to bind those powers of the enemy – the spirits of sin, sickness, false religion, false cults, idol worship and false prophets. I found myself binding the power of Satan that was operating in the religious leaders who were working and using their influence to stop the meetings from happening and were trying to destroy the crusade.

As I was praying intensely like this, God spoke to me and said, "Son, the sooner you realize that you have to go beyond the surface and to the root causes, the sooner you're going to have the victory, and the sooner you're going to understand what My new anointing is."

I understood then what God was trying to say to me.

Divine Revelations

The uprisings in America, the losing war in Vietnam, the tremendous political battles we were going through, were not the problem, they were an effect of the cause of the problem.

God told me that, in America I would have to go to the root causes of those problems to see any results.

The American Church for years had been fighting a defensive battle, just as the American military had been fighting a defensive battle in Vietnam, not going after the enemy, but just trying to keep the enemy from coming into South Vietnam.

All truth is parallel. Just as the physical warriors were prevented from what would have given them victory – pursuing the enemy into their own territory until victory was assured – the Church also was losing the battle because they had not taken the battle beyond the church walls. The Church would sit in its protective barriers each Sunday and pray that the devil would stay outside. They would feel relief that at least within the stained-glass protection of their sanctuaries, they were safe from the devil's evil influence that seemed to be so dominating the world.

But I now knew that if we were going to have any success in raising up disciples in America, we would have to go after the devil into his own territory and defeat him until he kept retreating to the ends of the earth.

That crusade in India turned out to be the most effective crusade by a foreign minister that had ever been held in India up to that point. We had a venue as large as three football fields, and people were packed into it, with more healings than I could count, and more salvations than I would have believed possible before we went to India.

The fourth day of the crusade, God spoke to me and said, "Son, can you see it? Can you see that as soon as you begin to use the same keys to victory in North America that you are using here, the sooner you will see the same anointing in North America?"

That was when I realized that for the first time, I was seeing the side of the devil I wanted to see – the backside of the devil, which is the part we see when he's running away from us. It was time to turn our war against the devil on the offensive and attack him until he couldn't run fast enough to get away from us!

One October morning in 1975, I was in my kitchen in San Diego, praying over some of the hundreds of prayer requests we got every week from partners of the ministry.

Theresa and I had just enjoyed breakfast and she had gone to the sofa to sit, but when I looked over my shoulder, I did not see her head over the top of the sofa, so I went over to see if she was there, and Theresa had laid down and was in a deep sleep.

As I was praying over the needs in my briefcase, I began to enter into a deep, intense period of intercession and travail for these needs, and I began to sense the Presence of God surrounding me and His anointing all around. Suddenly I felt a hand on my shoulder, and I turned and looked around. The manifestation of the anointing of the Presence of God was all over, but no one else was there.

As I mentioned earlier in this chapter, sometimes God speaks to me through His Word, by the revelations He shows me there. Sometimes God speaks to me in the still, small voice in my innermost being. Sometimes God speaks to me by allowing me to see things that will come to pass. And sometimes God speaks to me in an audible voice. This October morning, God spoke to me in an audible voice, just as real as if Theresa had awakened and begun speaking to me:

"Son, tell My people that very soon everything that can be shaken will be shaken. Tell them to fix their faith on two things: 1) That which is infallible, and 2) that which is impregnable."

Divine Revelations

I took out a long, yellow legal pad and began writing down what God was telling me.

God showed me that ministers would begin to fall, that every ministry that had spiritual problems would be shaken.

From that point forward, people on my staff would bring me newspapers with big, bold headlines, telling the woes of a world headed toward the edge of oblivion, but never once was I surprised by what I read. God had not given me a vague feeling of “things will get worse,” but a SPECIFIC prophecy, regarding specific events that would take place. It was as if I could read tomorrow’s headlines today, as God was showing me what was to happen.

I immediately began to share this revelation and visit of God with the people in my crusades and seminars and in my ministry publications. I began to teach people of the urgency of the hour, and how we must have a fixed point in our faith, the impregnable and infallible.

Not very much later, the shaking God revealed to me began to happen all over the world and throughout the Church at large.

One by one, each specific prophecy came to pass; ministers were defrocked, ministries fell, but the prophecy was not just about the Church: the American economic system went through one of its toughest periods ever. Earthquakes increased exponentially all over the world. New, more powerful weather patterns changed life for untold millions of people.

Entire governments (such as the U.S.S.R.) collapsed. Entire nations went bankrupt.

Wars began to proliferate in countries like Afghanistan, Nicaragua, Iran and Iraq, and all over the globe.

But God did not just reveal to me gloom and doom.

In 1989, Theresa and I flew into Perth, Australia, on my very first trip to minister to the Australian people. We had finished the meetings in Perth and went on to Sydney, where we were staying overnight, waiting to catch the next plane, to return to the United States.

SON, BUILD ME AN ARMY

We were very tired, so we went to bed. I hadn't been in bed very long, though, before God spoke to me, "Morris, get up!"

God said, "Go to the little table in the room, take out the pen – I am going to speak to you."

I took out a pen and began writing what God revealed to me, step by step, line by line. God revealed to me five major crises that were coming in the 1990s, a decade that was still five months away at that time.

That revelation became my book, 5 Major Crises and 5 Major Waves of the Holy Spirit Coming in the 1990s."

The first of the crises God revealed to me was a coming crisis of change; change in the world's economy, change in the traditional structure of the Church, increased hatred by the world toward Christianity and Christians, intense persecution of the true Church of Jesus Christ, and a change in weather patterns, causing disruptions and natural disasters around the world. These prophecies were all fulfilled. Worldwide economic changes came about in many different ways, and many different times, but one of the largest fulfillment's was the implementation of the euro, the single currency of a unified Europe. The currency got off to a rocky start, but it represented one of the most fundamental changes in world economic practice in the history of all mankind.

The second sub-prophecy on changes was that major changes in the structure of the Church would come about. Specifically, God showed me that denominational barriers and walls would no longer be able to keep Christianity divided, that the move of the Holy Spirit would transcend all denominational, man-made restrictions.

In the 1990s, we witnessed the largest merging of Christians in history since the Protestant Reformation.

Divine Revelations

Though some Christians may attend a Baptist church, others an Episcopalian, others a Pentecostal, the ministry of the Holy Ghost has permeated all Church groups, regardless of the name on the building, and many, many denominational pastors have begun teaching this unity in the Spirit of God.

The third sub-prophecy of change was an increased and intensified hatred toward Christianity. This prophecy was fulfilled through increased media persecution, and by nearly daily assaults on the basic foundations of Christianity by infidels all over the world. Almost daily, television programs portrayed Christians as hateful, arrogant and twisted, sometimes even mentally deranged; and through saturation broadcasts of these perceptions, those portrayals began to be impregnated into the collective consciousness of the world. This perception was intensified by several news exposés of major ministries, sometimes telling lies, other times telling the truth.

The fourth sub-prophecy of change was an end-time persecution of the true Church. This prophecy is fulfilled daily, almost hourly, in the nations of the world, where zealous anti-Christians kill, rape and beat Christians. In Egypt, Coptic Christians are forced to watch as their children are raped. Families are divided and beaten. In Indonesia, rioters literally killed any Christian they could get their hands on, smiling and laughing the whole time.

The fifth sub-prophecy of change God revealed to me was an increase of destruction from natural disasters. Since that time, devastating earthquakes have become commonplace, most recently in Turkey where tens of thousands of people were killed. In addition, weather patterns went completely wacky, with El Niño catching the blame for some and La Niña catching blame for others; increased hurricanes of extreme force, massive tornadoes hitting and wreaking havoc in downtown areas of major cities like Miami, Oklahoma City and Salt Lake City.

SON, BUILD ME AN ARMY

The second major crisis God revealed to me in 1989 was a major crisis of the family. God showed me ten sub-prophecies of this crisis of family.

The first was a growing spiritual division between unsaved family members and saved family members. In the 1990s, an unprecedented number of divorces rocked the Church, many of those based upon divisions between Christians and non Christians.

The second sub-prophecy of the family crisis was that moral standards would break down with not only acceptance, but a promotion of promiscuity. Even in the face of AIDS, the most devastating sexually transmitted disease in history, promiscuity increased exponentially in the 1990s; with ever-increasing promotion through media propaganda and a complete loss of morals, from the highest levels of government on down. Teen pregnancies skyrocketed, and surveys showed high percentages of teenagers who were regularly having sexual intercourse while they were still in high school.

Closely related to the second, the third sub-prophecy God showed me was that AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases would increase tremendously. Some nations are completely riddled with the disease, and some figures estimate that large percentages of single adults in America are either infected with the disease or soon will be. Despite repeated warnings and education campaigns, the disease continues to spread at epidemic proportions.

The fourth sub-prophecy of family crisis was that domestic and child abuse would grow worse. In the decade of the 90s, more child abuse was reported than in any other decade in history. Case workers were overloaded with work, and children were routinely removed from their parents' care to be placed in foster homes. A huge number of spousal abuse cases were reported, with many ending up in murders, either of the abuser or the abused.

Divine Revelations

The fifth sub-prophecy was that rebellion would increase in the teenagers and young people. Teenagers became completely unmanageable in the 1990s, some even killing their parents or going on shooting rampages at their schools, such as the rampage in Littleton, Colorado, where thirteen ended up dead because of two rebellious teenagers who wanted to go out in a blaze of “glory.”

The sixth sub-prophecy was that teenage suicides would increase. Following the high-profile suicides of rock stars Kurt Cobain of Nirvana and Michael Hutchence of INXS, thousands of kids attempted copycat suicides and many succeeded.

The seventh sub-prophecy was that families would find it harder to provide the basic necessities of life for their children and families. Poverty levels in America reached new highs in the 1990s, with more families depending on government assistance of some sort than ever before. Economic woes hit foreign families even harder, with many children dying from malnutrition and disease based upon economic inability to pay for the basic necessities.

The eighth sub-prophecy was that the family would continue to be under assault by the enemy, dissolving more marriages than ever before. Sexual sins hit a new height in the 1990s, with the advent of the Internet and telephone sex lines, many husbands found themselves drawn into an ever more powerful cycle of pornography and unfaithfulness that eventually led to the dissolution of their marriages.

The ninth sub-prophecy was that the foundation of the family would continue to dissolve through New Age philosophies and the teaching of humanism in schools. With the advent of the community philosophy of raising children, parents suddenly found themselves in legal jeopardy for disciplining their children.

SON, BUILD ME AN ARMY

The tenth sub-prophecy was that the moral values of families would be torn apart through saturation of the devil's evil devices. This prophecy is fulfilled every day, and by just turning on a television set, it is possible to see the complete moral destruction of the values that once ruled American families.

The third major crisis God revealed to me that would come in the 1990s was the shaking of the Church.

God revealed to me five sub-prophecies of how the Church would be shaken. The first sub-prophecy was that intense persecution would begin on a worldwide scale, starting in America. In the 1990s, children were allowed to practice any religion at school except for Christianity. Christians were systematically derided and persecuted in America for their beliefs, and liberal humanists portrayed Christians as twisted, deranged wackos in every avenue they could possibly find.

The second sub-prophecy was that the true Body of Christ would be separated from the uncommitted nominal Christians. In the past decade, nominal Christians were separated as wave after wave of revival encouraged the true Church to come closer to God and to walk the narrow path of righteousness, and the lines of demarcation between committed Christians and the uncommitted became crystal clear.

The third sub-prophecy was that the traditional structure of the Church would be shaken, with the Body raising up ministers from all aspects of life. Many churches moved away from the traditional pastor-dominated structure to one of lay ministers taking care of portions of the congregation's needs, with more and more people becoming ministers to each other, and witnessing to their friends and co-workers.

The fourth sub-prophecy was that new leadership within the fivefold ministry would emerge under the divine leadership of Jesus Christ. In the 1990s, many evangelists, prophets, apostles, pastors and teachers were raised up by God to begin fulfilling the spiritual needs of the Church that was growing beyond the denominational barriers of man-made religion.

Divine Revelations

The fifth sub-prophecy was that traditions and man-made doctrines would be broken. In the decade of the 90s, many traditional churches broke out of their traditional modes of worship and service, as they embraced the freedom of worship in the Spirit of the living God.

The fourth major crisis God revealed to me in 1989 was a coming worldwide financial crisis that would bring upheaval around the world.

This prophecy began to be fulfilled in the late 1990s when the world's financial markets, starting in Asia, were rocked by Asian economies faltering, starting in Indonesia and spreading throughout Asia, then to Europe, South America and North America. Many people lost their homes, their jobs and their life savings as the world's economic troubles translated into real disasters for them. There is much more to come on this.

The fifth major crisis God led me to prophesy was a coming satanic confrontation of gigantic proportions, with an increase of lying signs and wonders, and many going astray after the lies of the devil.

The 1990s saw the biggest increase in occult activity in history, with even mainstream and everyday people depending on psychic call-in lines for their daily direction, and horoscopes and New Age philosophical books becoming the bywords for an entire generation.

But God did not just tell me to prophesy five coming crises, He led me to tell the Church of five waves of the Holy Spirit coming in the 1990s. Those prophecies also were fulfilled.

SON, BUILD ME AN ARMY

The first major wave was a new wave of holiness coming on the Church. The late 1980s found the Church in the aftermath of highly publicized scandals from major preachers who were not living in holiness and not following the principles they taught. This worldliness seemed to pervade the Church, but God showed me a wave of holiness was coming. That wave of holiness began almost immediately in the early 1990s, and has only grown stronger through the decade, culminating in tremendous revivals in places like Argentina and Pensacola, Florida. God's holiness has become the rallying cry of an entire multitude of Christians who are no longer willing to settle for nominal Christianity, but instead want the deeper things of God.

The second wave God told me was coming was a wave of great signs, miracles and wonders. This wave of miracles has resulted in more documented healings, salvations and deliverances than at any time in the history of the Church, with God's power being poured out as never before.

The third wave God led me to prophesy was coming in the 1990s was a wave of true unity through a new covenant relationship. Many Christians of all denominational and ecclesiastical backgrounds came together as never before in a new unity of the Spirit, worshiping God in Spirit and in truth. This unity has resulted in the creation of a more powerful Body of Christ that is stronger than it has ever been in history, and is only getting stronger.

The fourth wave of the Spirit God led me to prophesy was a wave of divine wisdom and discernment in the Body of Christ to deal with the crises that were coming in the decade of the 90s. This wave of discernment and wisdom has been fulfilled in a tremendous way, with many new leaders coming to the forefront in the dearth of leadership that the shaking of the Church has left, many leaders who are filled with biblical wisdom and spiritual discernment to lead the Church into new frontiers of the Spirit.

The fifth wave of the Spirit God led me to prophesy was that restitution and restoration would come on the Church. My files of testimonies are packed with stories of Christians who have received back every penny the devil has stolen from them, and even more, as God takes them beyond the point of blessing into a new realm of pouring out His blessings that they can't even contain. Headings have increased exponentially, and deliverances have increased. God has moved in the most tremendous ways possible, and it's only beginning!
